

Do Not Sell or Share My Personal Information

Oct 13, 2026

Our commitment to your choices

Dream Captain honors authors, and we honor your choices about your personal information. This page explains your right to tell us not to sell or share it, and exactly how to do that. It is part of our Privacy Policy.

What "sell" and "share" mean

U.S. state privacy laws use two terms that matter here.

- Sell means disclosing personal information to a third party in exchange for money or other valuable consideration.
- Share means disclosing personal information to a third party for cross-context behavioral advertising, which is advertising based on your activity across other businesses' websites and apps.

Some states also give you the right to opt out of targeted advertising and certain profiling. We treat requests under any of these terms the same way.

What Dream Captain does with your information

[Dream Captain does not sell personal information, and does not share it for cross-context behavioral advertising.] We do not knowingly sell or share the personal information of anyone under 16.

If we ever add advertising or similar technologies that would count as selling or sharing, we will update this page and our Cookie Notice first, keep those technologies off until you have a clear choice where the law requires it, and honor the opt-out methods below.

How to opt out

You can opt out in any of three ways. You do not need an account, and we will not charge you or degrade your service for opting out.

1. Use the link. Select "Do Not Sell or Share My Personal Information" in the footer of any page, then turn off advertising and targeting cookies.
2. Send a signal. Turn on Global Privacy Control in your browser, as described below.
3. Tell us. Email hello@dreamcaptain.com with the subject "Do Not Sell or Share," and include the email address you use with Dream Captain, if any.

Even if we do not currently sell or share your information, you may submit a request. We will record it and honor it.

Global Privacy Control and opt-out preference signals

Global Privacy Control (GPC) is a browser setting or extension that tells websites you want to opt out of sale and sharing. We treat a valid GPC signal as a request to opt out for that browser and, where we can link it to you, for your account. We do not ask you to confirm it or to take further steps, and we do not treat Do Not Track as a substitute for GPC.

Verification and authorized agents

Opt-out requests do not require identity verification. You may also let an authorized agent submit a request for you. We may ask for written proof of their permission, and for you to confirm directly with us.

Your other rights and non-discrimination

You also have rights to access, correct, delete and port your information, and to limit the use of sensitive personal information. We do not collect sensitive personal information to infer characteristics about you. See our Privacy Policy and Request to Remove page for how to use those rights.

We will not treat you differently, or charge you a different price, because you used your privacy rights.
